SULLY'S LIFE

THE ANTHONY SULLIVAN STORY

Written by Arthur Bullock

Anthony Sullivan was born on February 11, 1969 in Devon, England. He is a direct-response salesman who pitched and endorsed numerous products including OxiClean, Sticky Buddy, H2O Mop X5, and Pineapple Twist. He is also the founder and CEO of his commercial production company Sullivan Productions, which is based in Tampa, Florida. He befriended Pennsylvania-based salesman Billy Mays (1958-2009) in the documentary series Pitchmen. In the 1990s, Anthony Sullivan was stationed in the United States and teamed up with a manufacturing company to endorse products. He made appearances on the Home Shopping Network before he formed Sullivan

Productions in 1998. Anthony Sullivan appeared along with Billy Mays on The Tonight Show with Conan O'Brien on June 23, 2009. He is also a hemp farmer who grows marijuana plants in Montkush Farms in Marshfield, Vermont. He appeared on the Vice TV reality series, Kings of Kush, along with Dave Christian, and Survivor personality Ethan Zohn. Anthony Sullivan will be 55 on February 11, 2024. Sully's biography is dedicated to his friend Billy Mays (1958-2009). In the future, Sully will be pitching new inventions and CBD products.

COMING SOON

Fine Malt Bio: The House of Pain Story

Who is Slim Shady?: The Eminem Story

A Schoolboy's Life: A Schoolboy Q Story

Insane in the Membrane: The Cypress Hill Story

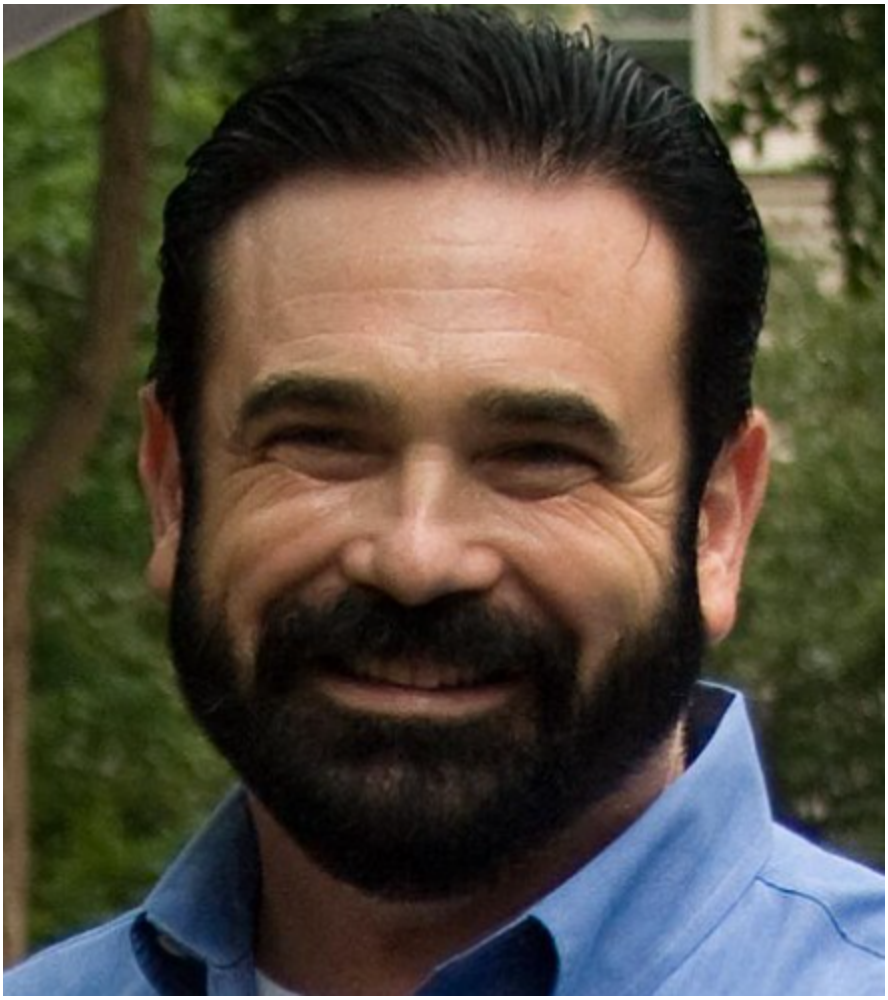
Eazy AF: The Eazy-E Story

Life's a Pitch: The Billy Mays Story Vol. 2

Who is Big Momma?: The Martin Lawrence Story

Portrait of a Hothead

Loiter Man: The Tyler the Creator Story



Dedicated to Sully's best friend Billy Mays

(July 20, 1958-June 28, 2009)

Bullock Publishing 2023 All rights reserved

Also look for Life’s a Pitch: The Billy Mays Story